

The British
Psychological Society
Research Board

Hearing Voices: An Interpersonal Experience?

A research seminar exploring theoretical understandings of auditory hallucinations

Friday 26th April 2013

9.30am to 4.30pm

At University of Sussex, Pevensey 1 Building, Room 1A7

Including presentations from researchers at the cutting-edge of theoretical developments:

- Dr Katherine Berry "How can attachment theory inform theories of voice hearing?"
- Professor Max Birchwood "The subordinate relationship with voices as a paradigm of social defeat"
- Dr Christine Braehler "A compassion focused theoretical perspective of distressing voices"
- Dr Mark Hayward "Turning towards and relating to voices"
- Dr Clara Strauss "Being mindful of voices. Why might a mindfulness-based approach be of benefit for distressing voices?"

To book a free place at this event please contact Isabelle Butcher; isabelle.butcher@manchester.ac.uk

The University of Manchester

Sussex Partnership
NHS Foundation Trust

University of Sussex